FOREWORD

In publishing this edition of The Phoenix, it is our purpose to bring to the students and the Alumni of Cumberland University a history of the University for the year nineteen hundred twenty-eight. We have endeavored to include such college activities and to so arrange the various sections of the book that in after years, when we chance to scan its pages, we may find it a book of pleasant memories—a means of taking us back through the vistas of memory, where we may live again the many happy hours that we spent in our Alma Mater.

If this has been accomplished, then our efforts have not been in vain.

PHOENIX

ALMA MATER

On old Lebanon's western border,
Reared against the sky,
Proudly stands our Alma Mater
As the years go by.

Forward ever be her watchword,
Conquer and prevail;
Hail to thee, our Alma Mater,
CUMBERLAND, all hail!

Cherished by thy sons and daughters,
Sweeter memories throng
Around our hearts, our Alma Mater,
As we sing this song.

PRESIDENT ERNEST L. STOCKTON

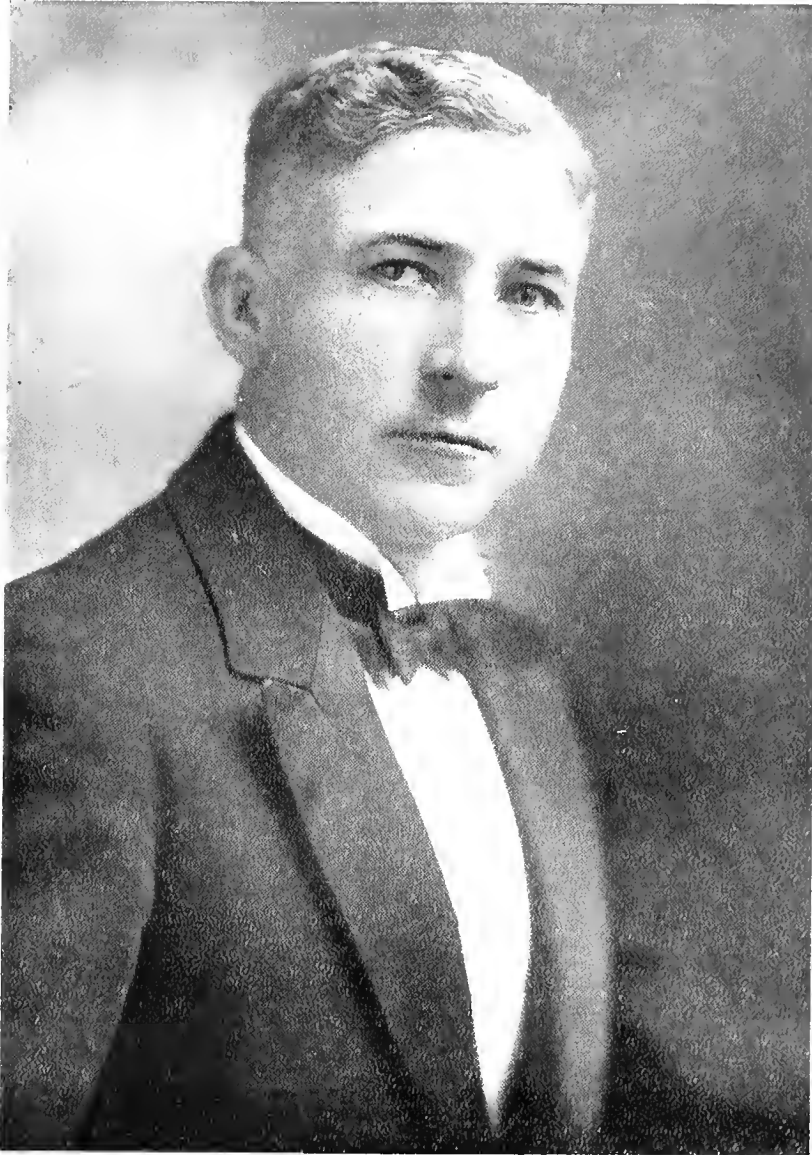

CUMBERLAND UNIVERSITY has made a forward step in the selection of her President, Ernest L. Stockton, who has risen from the student ranks to the highest position that his Alma Mater could offer him, and who is now filling that position most creditably.

President Stockton's outstanding qualities, in addition to his great intellectual capacity, are sincerity of purpose and a great love for Cumberland. He is always a friend to the students, ready to advise and sympathize; and because of this, he is popular to a degree which few men have attained.

Under the guidance of a modern educator, such as our President, a new day has dawned for Cumberland. He has raised the standards of the Institution, and is creating an atmosphere of culture which is felt by all who enter the portals of our Alma Mater.

PRESIDENT STOCKTON

PHOENIX

A PROPHECY

CONCEIVED in faith, but born in poverty and nurtured in turmoil, Cumberland has to-day reached that virile maturity which is the prize of those who have labored to live. Truly she "hath mightily won God out of knowledge and good out of infinite pain." Long has she wandered in the wilderness, and often has she known fame and famine and fire and the sword, but never has she strayed far from the Cloud or the Pillar. And even now the Ark of her spirit, the repository of her memories and dreams, is being borne to the edge of the Jordan. The waters recede at the touch of the devoted feet of those who bear Cumberland's burden, and beyond the parted stream we see our Promised Land. And slowly the Ark is carried on.

The Ark is moving, but the people have yet to pass—and this is the march of students, alumni, and friends. We must look toward the leaders who carry the Ark, and under their wise guidance we must discern the Cloud and the Pillar of Fire which will lead us across into Canaan.

The ideals of the present administration and faculty are old ones—ideals which are eternal because they are true. They look to a Cumberland devoted solely to education, and primarily to cultural education. They look to graduates who go into the world inspired to live, and to live nobly.

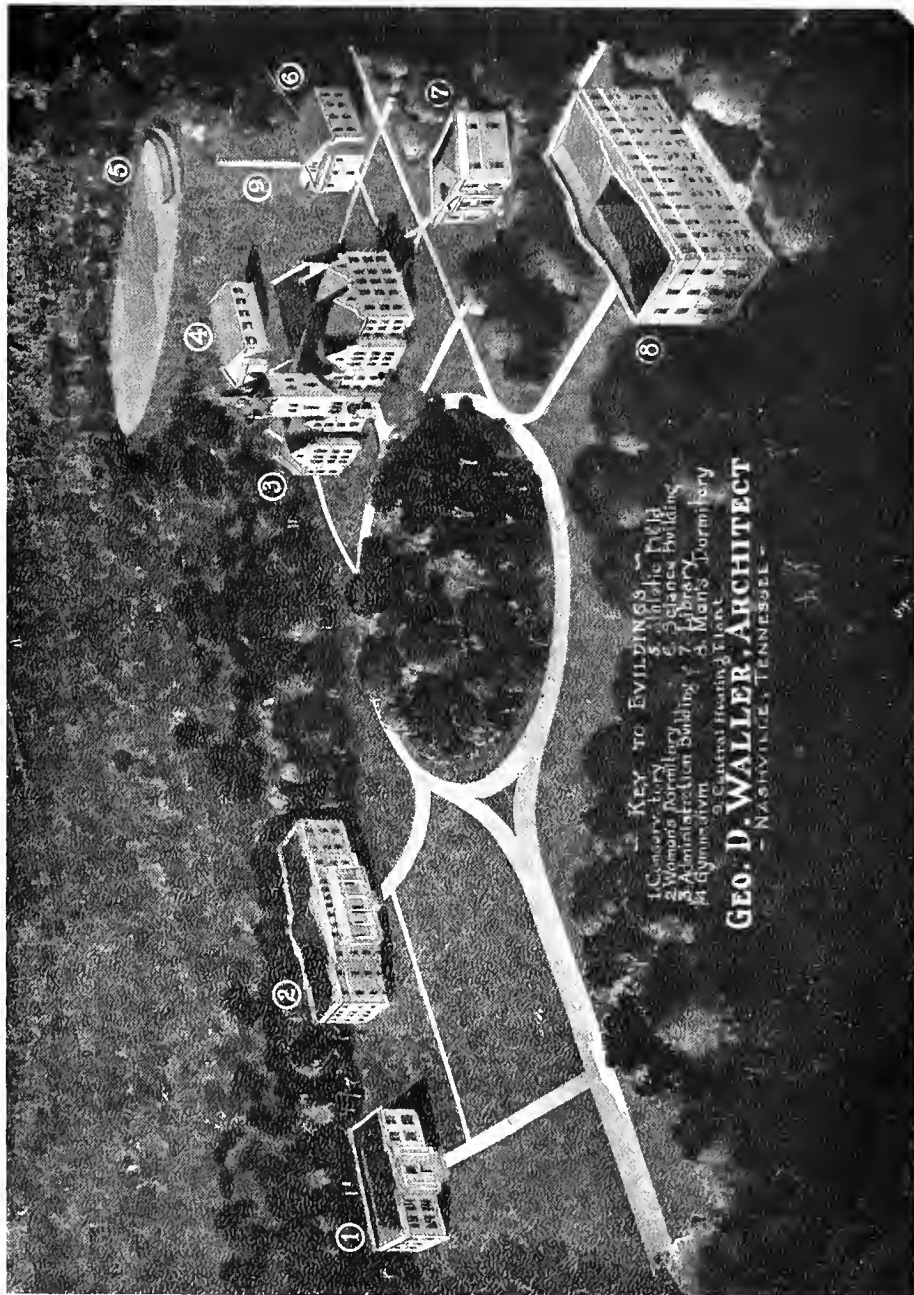

The next decade will witness a metamorphosis both material and spiritual. New buildings will grace the campus—a dormitory for women, a library, a conservatory of music, a science hall, and a gymnasium. Sufficient endowment will drive from the door the wolf that has so often hindered progress, and we will see modern laboratories and libraries ample for genuine research.

We will see a Cumberland who has taken a place among the great institutions of the South—a Cumberland whose scholastic standards have been elevated and whose whole existence has been vivified. The visitor will feel the academic atmosphere which will pervade the campus—an atmosphere which will be the effervescence from our traditions and our toil. To that day!

The march through Jordan goes on; the Divine Power holds back the unfriendly waters, because those who bear the Ark stand firm; the Cloud and the Pillar mark our goal, and even now the vanguard has planted the standard of Cumberland upon the shore of her Promised Land.

THE SONG OF THE JUNIORS

A story old to us was told,
Once in the long ago,
Of they who seek the golden fleece
In countries high and low,
And musty tales of seas and sails,
Of treasure on a hill:
'Twas said, "Dare fate, if you'd be great:"
Our answer was: "We will!"

Then journeyed we, so bold and free,
Through verdant fields in spring;
Hard grew the way, though day by day
In toiling did we sing.
We wiser grew, as students do,
In striving o'er the plain,
From countless days in Junior maze
To the foot of the hill we came.

With ready hand we calmly stand,
We're the Seniors of to-morrow;
Our smiles and tears of three long years
Were more of joy than sorrow.
We're working still to climb the hill,
Give a tribute as we pass;
The hidden treasure is learning's pleasure,
To be found by our loyal Class.

JUDGE CHAMBERS

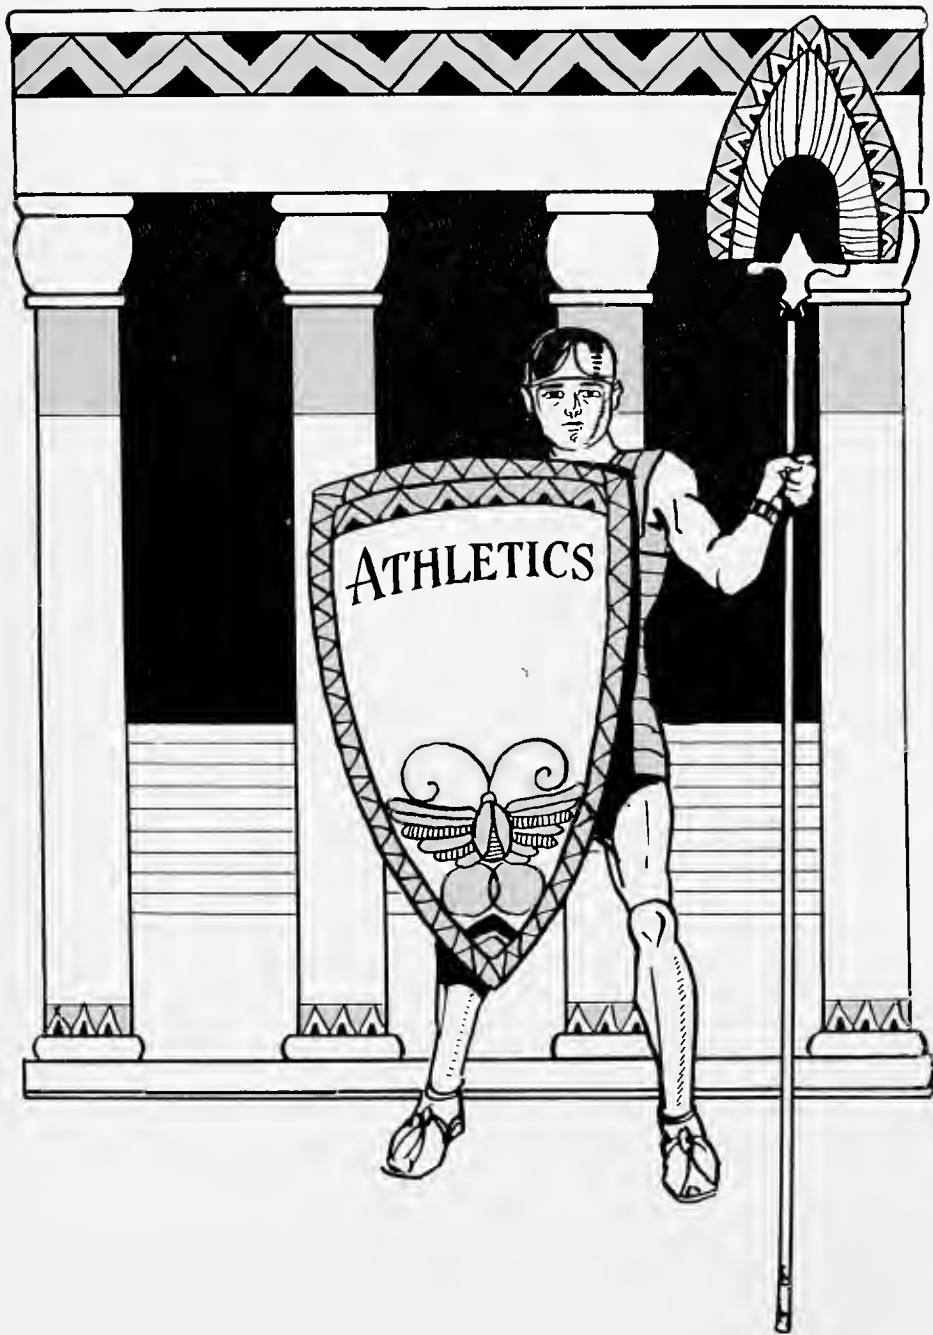

Grayed with the frosts of many years,
And labors that never end,
Steps none too steady, daily pursued;
He was our idol—and friend.

Unselfish, faithful, kindly, and true;
He laughed when we laughed, and was glad
To have place in our hearts when merry,
To have place in our hearts when sad.

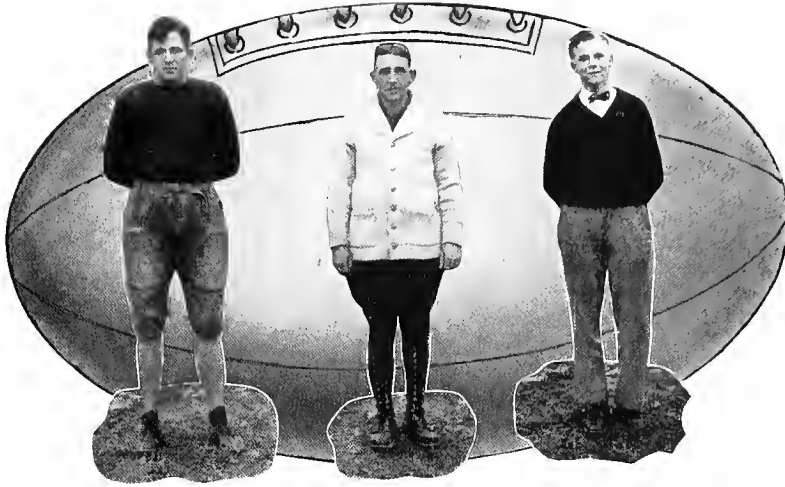

We'll wander away from Cumberland,
And away from our dear old friend;
But memories of our Alma Mater—and you—
Will be memories that never will end.

SENIOR LAW CLASS, 1928.

PHOENIX

MANAGER HARRY MURPHY McCLOY

Much has been said and noticed of this lad from Kentucky; but with all the praise and commendation that has been heaped upon him, there is a lack of proper appreciation for the faithful work he rendered the Bulldogs on the gridiron. Ever smiling, even in the face of defeat of his cohorts, he is the ideal Cumberland follower. A keen business mind, a skillful worker who instills a fighting spirit in the hearts of players, a good winner, and a good loser—that's "Murph."

COACH MONTY MacDANIEL

Coach Monty MacDaniel, versatile in any sport, came to Cumberland in the fall of 1927 from Bryson College, Fayetteville, Tennessee, where he had held the position of Athletic Director for a number of years. The teams he has been represented by in that school were enough to convince any Cumberland student and follower that strong teams would represent Old Cumberland in all sports.

Succeeding Irvin ("Tiny") Knee, Coach MacDaniel at once laid plans to formulate a progressive system of sports. As a football coach, Monty displayed his ability and prowess. With six men returning from last year's men of letters, and with a wonderful array of untried talent, "Coach" went at his work with the determination to give Cumberland another winning eleven. By dint of hard, conscientious, untiring labor, foiled at times by men who chose to be individualistic rather than coöperative, "Coach" worked a team out of his squad that deserves more praise and credit than has been given it by the student body.

Only those that know "Coach" (which is a hard thing) know the suave, easy manner in which he tackles his work, and also those that realize it know that when the time comes for actions or results Coach MacDaniel and his trained men are "there with the goods." Not harsh, not easy, but carried on with a determination that his teams shall be true representatives of the Old Alma Mater—that's Monty MacDaniel.

CAPTAIN ALLISON HUMPHREYS

"Fats" is merely a nickname; it does not characterize his physique or personal appearance. Playing his fourth year on the team, he was a most essential cog in the success of his team. Possessed of the qualities of a true sportsman, a born fighter, and remarkable leadership, he instilled into his men the spirit of confidence and teamwork. Shifting from his old position of center to that of tackle, for the benefit of the team, "Fats" was not handicapped; for on the field he was always the same raging, charging, hard-hitting Red Bulldog. He was without a doubt the most dependable and most versatile man in the Red Line.

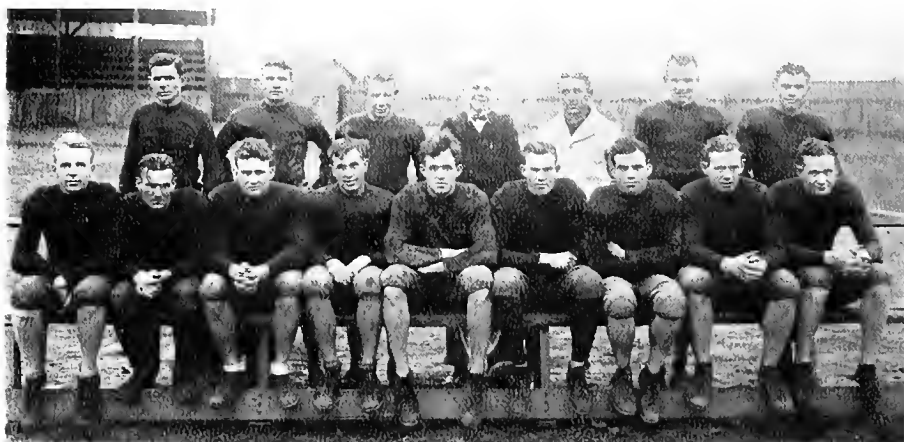

PHOENIX

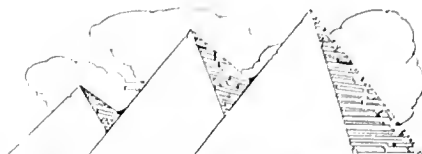

RESUME OF FOOTBALL SEASON

Coach Monte McDaniel, who came to us this year from Bryson College, Fayetteville, Tennessee, found five letter men returning from last year's victorious eleven. Captain Allison ("Fats") Humphreys, Bill Baird, Ben Brooks, J. Carr ("Abby") Arnett, and "Red" Cook made up the fighting nucleus around which another spirited Bulldog team was to be built.

Kirk Field was literally baked under a merciless sun, but the host of gallants that answered roll call were not to be daunted by the unfavorable whims of a mere weather man. Each grueling day brought its call to water and showers, each long week its evidences of a steadfast improvement, until finally Coach McDaniel unleashed his mighty team of Bulldogs to the task of tearing up the hard schedule before them.

PHOENIX

One encounter was to be tied, four won, and four lost; but to tie, win, or lose was to play the game with that same fine spirit of clean, hard fight that has characterized Cumberland's athletics through the long years of her glorious existence.

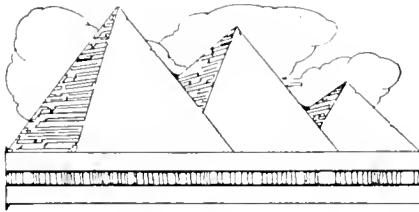

The 1927 Bulldogs chose a game with the Vanderbilt Reserves for their opener. Neither team was able to score through the entire encounter, but McDaniel's men displayed fine teamwork, which enabled them to keep the ball in their opponent's territory during most of the fray.

On October 7 the Middle Tennessee State Teachers' College came over from Murfreesboro and won a 19-0 victory. The contest was one of brawn, in which the Teachers had a slight edge. Despite their failure to score, the Bulldogs showed plenty of fight and pep.

Cumberland went into her third game fully determined to taste the fruits of victory at the expense of Tennessee Tech, of Cookeville. It was then, on October 14, that Coach McDaniel's cohorts found themselves drawing their first blood of the season. By straight football and a carefully planned aerial attack, Cumberland was able to carry the pigskin across the mark for four touchdowns. Tech scored against the second team in the third quarter. The score: 24-6.

The following week the team journeyed to Paris Island, South Carolina, and there lost a hard-fought game to the United States Marine Corps Team by the score of 26-7. According to the news reports, Cumberland lost out on the breaks.

The Bulldogs retaliated on the following week by a series of savage attacks which spelled defeat for the Carson-Newman Team by a lone touchdown. This game offered the local fans the best exhibition of football seen on the home gridiron this season. For the first time in many years, Cumberland was able to stop the Jefferson City "Fightin' Parsons." The final count was 12-6.

Bethel College, of McKenzie, Tennessee, furnished the opposition for the boys in the last home game of the season, which was played on Kirk Field on November 4. Outweighing, outplaying, and out-thinking the plucky visitors, the Bulldogs won a well-deserved 20-6 victory.

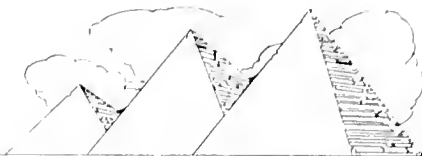

On Armistice Day Cumberland lost to a superior team at Maryville, Tennessee. Injuries in the early part of the game weakened our backfield, but the boys kept up a good fight to the final whistle.

In the concluding game of the season the Bulldogs plowed their way through ankle-deep mud to a 13-0 victory over the Tennessee Tech Team at Cookeville. This gave us an even break for the season.

Throughout the season individual starrng was greatly overshadowed by a machinelike execution of teamwork which never failed to gain recognition from the press as well as from the onlooker. Though this is Coach McDaniel's first year as Director of Athletics, he has through his ability shown himself to be an invaluable asset to our University. Athletics in Cumberland are upward bound.

PHOENIX

BASKETBALL

MANAGER HARRY LIGGETT

Harry's devotion to his team and able assistance cannot be questioned. He always was there, and brought some of the best teams in the South to Cumberland gym.

COACH JAMES DUKE DeBOIS

"Duke" came to Cumberland with an enviable record on the hardwood floor; and when the authorities began casting about for a coach, "Duke" more than filled the standards. And even with the job of coaching on his hands, DeBois played the running guard position to perfection and was an invaluable man to the 1928 machine. Fast, consistent, and a born fighter, he proved to be an able teacher of the Cumberland boys. "Duke's" wonderful teamwork stood out and his ability to count a two-pointer was uncanny; but when it came the time to defend the goal from invaders, he was always on them with a watchful eye.

RESUME OF BASKETBALL SEASON

When the chilling winds of winter time called a halt to the gridiron battles all eyes were turned in the direction of Memorial Hall Gym. It was here that Coach DeBois, after sending forth the call for men, had assembled a promising-looking squad of basketballers who would fight to carry the laurels of dear old Cumberland on through victory. Among the aspirants who had answered this call were two Varsity men, Jimmy Fitts and Dave Robison, the lone survivors of the season of 1926. Robison soon was sent to coach the Co-ed team, while Little Jimmy stayed with the Red Bulldogs throughout the season.

The boys found the going tough throughout the season. It seems as if "Lady Luck" had dished out more hard luck in the way of injuries than usual, and most of the bad breaks were sent down upon the head of the Red Bulldog before the season had successfully started. Nevertheless, the same fighting spirit was carried throughout the entire season, giving the fans an exhibition of uncommonly fine basketball.

The first game of the season was played in the local Gym with Ashland City. The boys, although laboring under a handicap, took a tip-off and, with excellent passing, were able to trounce the visitors by a score of 40 to 34. Coach DeBois used a greater part of his reserve material in this game, all of which showed up well. The next game, however, was in the manner of a defeat—in fact, Cumberland lost the next three games. The Huntsville (Alabama) "Y" succeeded in nosing out the Bulldogs in the last few minutes to win by a mere three points. Vanderbilt came next and, with material practically equal to any team in the South, administered another bitter defeat to the Bulldogs. Cumberland then, with injured men, was forced to take the small end of a game with the Dallas "Y," from Huntsville, Ala. The following week-end the Bulldogs had as their guests Tennessee Tech, in which Parks, Siebold, and DeBois went wild and threw goals from every angle except the bleachers, while Hoag and Humphries held the enemy away from their own goal while Robison took the tip-off. The Bulldogs then invaded the lair of the Nash. Ams. and took them into camp by a four-point lead. Coach DeBois mustered his men together to proceed on the trip up into the blue-grass regions of Kentucky, where they took the small end of a scoring duel with the Bowling Green American Legion. The following night, after his men had got acquainted with the locality, the Bowling Green Business College fell before the rush of Siebold, Park, and Fitts. Immediately upon the return to Wilson County the Burke Terrors invaded Lebanon to carry off a game with a ten-point lead. The Terrors came in the prime of condition, while the Bulldogs were forced to play a crippled and trip-worn team. Then came the long trip which would take the boys through the northern part of Alabama. The first stop was Fayetteville, the home of Bryson College, and it was here Siebold mistook the Girls' Dorm. for the Gym, but was soon informed differently. The Bulldogs took the game out of the hands of the Bryson delegation and won 28 to 19. Park was unable to throw any overhand shots; therefore, the score was not high. The Bulldogs then played two games in Huntsville, Ala., where two games were taken away from the visitors. It was in this game that the enemy counted hitting the back board as a goal; therefore, Cumberland was forced to take whatever was handed out. Coming back to Murfreesboro, the Bulldogs lost a well-earned game in the last minute to go by three points, the whistle blowing while the final two points were in the air. The Nash. Ams. then invaded Lebanon. Again Park and Siebold and DeBois went on a rampage, while Humphries and Robison kept the enemy out of the danger zone, and piled up a score of 42 to 29. The Teachers then came over, bent on piling up a slightly higher score; but with the passing of the Bulldogs worked down to the finer points, the Cumberland lads romped away with the game. Fitts and Deeds played like veterans in this game, and when the count was finally made Cumberland had the large end of a 42 to 26 count. The Bryson College quintet stopped over for their first game of a trip and lost to the Bulldogs. Both teams worked a wonderful defense, but the home guards took off the honors of the night with a 26 to 23 score. The final game was with the Cookeville lads; and after making a trip through a blizzard and snow-storm, the Bulldogs woke up with a loss. This game was played in Cookeville, and closed a very remarkable season for a team that had suffered all the bad luck and labored under strenuous handicaps all the way through the season.

PHOENIX

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

MANAGER FRANCES WESSON

It was the skillful arrangement of Miss Wesson that gave our girls a chance to show their team, for she arranged games with some of the strongest teams in the State and South. Besides her job as Manager, she won high scoring honors as a star forward, and when she got the ball it meant two points. It is Frances' last year, and we are sorry to lose her, but we know that she will come out on top with her keen business faculties.

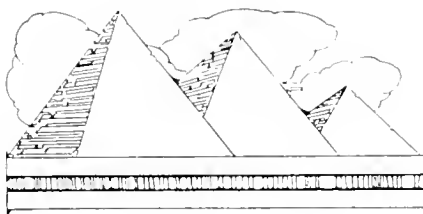

COACH DAVE ROBISON

The task was also on the Athletic Committee to select a coach for the Co-Ed team; but they had not far to go, for Dave Robison could be obtained. Dave was a member of the last year's Bulldogs on the floor, but this year he gave his time and talents to rounding out a formidable team of Co-Eds. Starting with a few of last year's squad, by hard work and diligent coaching and coaxing Dave swung into the season with one of the greatest combinations Cumberland has ever had, and with plenty of reserve strength. It was Dave's ability to see the best and get it out of his workers that gave us our successful team this year.

CAPTAIN FRANCES VAUGHAN

Returning from the memorable five of last year, Frances was back at her position of center. Undoubtedly the most versatile member of the squad, the cog of the machine, and possessed of one of the greatest fighting spirits a Cumberland Co-Ed has ever had, a bulwark on the defense, and unusual ability for counting two points from beyond the foul line, she had the respect and confidence of her cohorts.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL, 1927-28

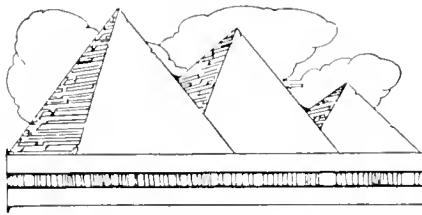

The Co-Eds opened their season on December 10 with a win over the East End Methodist Church, of Nashville. When the team trotted into the Gym there were Captain Whitlock, Wesson, Vaughn, and Smart returning from last year's Varsity to take up their places in the line-up. Though this was the girls' initial trial for the season, they gave a remarkable display of the teamwork which Coach Dave Robison had been drilling them in during the long afternoons of practice. The local girls took the game easily by the score of 45 to 22.

The second game was played at Murfreesboro against the State Teachers' champion quintet. The Cumberland girls played gamely, but lost to a superior team by a 39-13 count.

On January 14 the Co-Eds duplicated their earlier victory over the East End Methodist Church team by winning from the Nashville girls on their home court. The score: 36-14.

The game played against the Du Pont Rayon girls, in the local gym, was one of the best exhibitions of basketball seen during the season. Our girls emerged victorious after a very close battle to win 29-24.

PHOENIX

On January 26 the C. U. lasses went on a road trip on which they met Bowling Green Normal and lost to them by a 34-29 score.

Upon their return home the girls took vengeance out upon the Du Pont team and again administered to them a good lesson in basketball. The game was played at Du Pont. The score: 32-29.

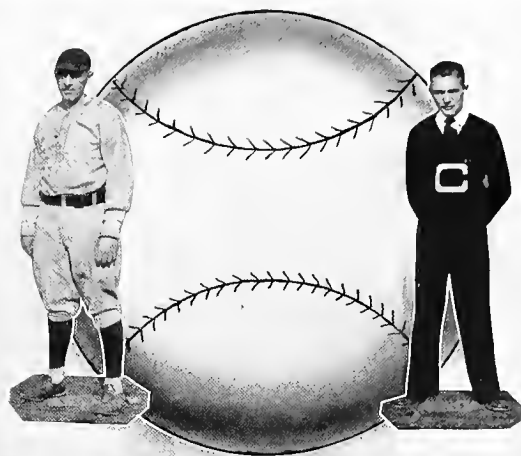

The T. P. I. girls, of Cookeville, proved to be weak contenders by losing to our girls 38-7 on their home court. This was the last out-of-town game for the C. U. Co-Eds—February 4, 1928.

Out of the last six games played, the local girls were able to win only two. On February 10 the Shield Girls came over from Nashville to lose by a score of 48-10. This and the game with Tennessee Tech, played here on February 25, were our last wins of the season. The score of the latter game was 48-14. The other games were lost to Tennessee State Teachers on February 3, 47-22; Bowling Green Normal, on February 17, 37-25; Nash. Amarettes, on February 21, 23-18, and on February 29, 17-7.

Throughout the season the girls played their unusually hard schedule with a fighting spirit of clean sportsmanship, which was an honor to their Alma Mater. They won seven of their thirteen games. In them all the main attraction was a wonderful display of real teamwork. It was a season to be proud of, though it was not one of crowning victory.

PHOENIX

BASEBALL

MONTE MacDANIEL, Coach Baseball

Cumberland is very fortunate in having a coach of such ability as Monte MacDaniel. He has played fast professional ball and knows just about how and what baseball was made for. He only came to us this year; but has displayed a wonderful knowledge of the fine points of the game, as well as being able to put it into his players. Laboring to build a team around five letter men, one a pitcher, Coach has perfected a squad that will give any team a fight. This year's team will be greater than any for years preceding, and promises to rank high with small college circles in the South.

Coach is a hard worker on the field, for he feels at home. His position is behind the bat, and he takes his workouts and training with his men. He is efficient and determined, and instills the spirit or teamwork into the minds of the players, which seldom fails to bring results. When the Red Bulldogs go down in defeat on the diamond, it cannot be said that they were not fighting all the way. "Batting averages don't count in this league—what we want is teamwork to make runs."

JAMES FITTS, Manager Baseball

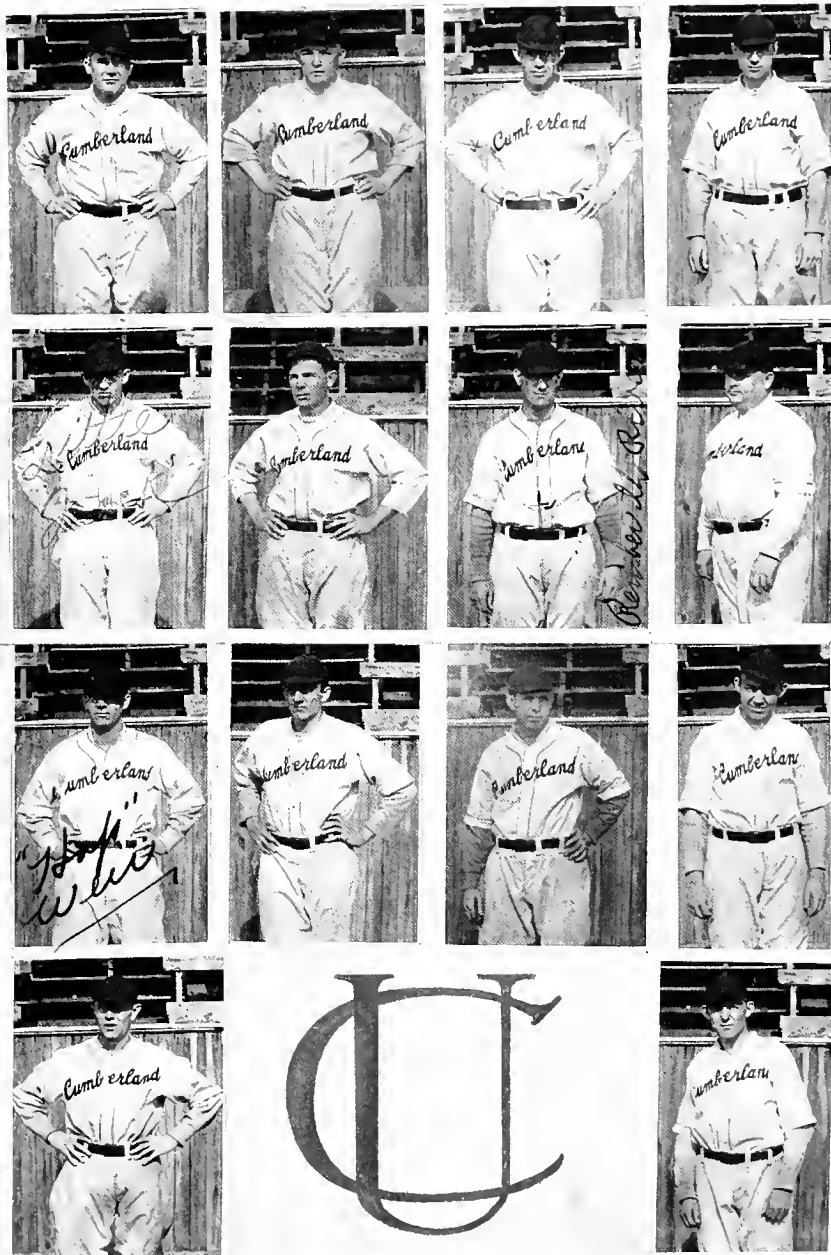

Those in authority have a knack of selecting "little" managers—little in stature, but big of heart and big in ability. Jim is a manager who puts his whole heart and soul into the work, and while those Bulldogs are fighting he is doing everything in his power to make that old Maroon and White banner continue to flaunt the skies.

He has arranged a good schedule, keeps his material and equipment on the dot, and is keen in business ability.

C. U. BASEBALL, 1928

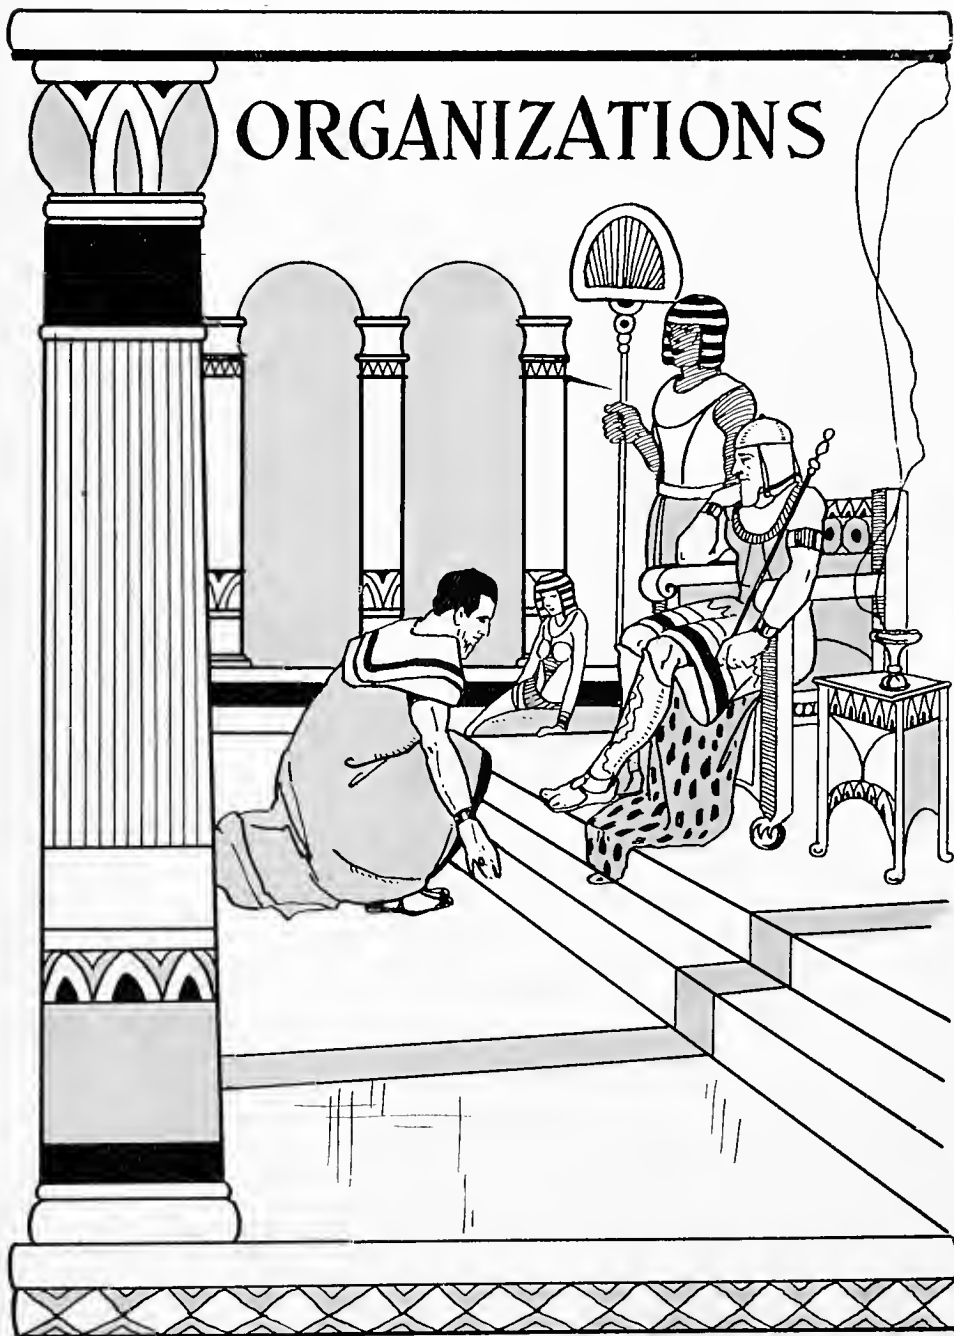

Kirk Field resounded to the crack of the bat for the first time in 1928 when Coach MacDaniel put his string of recruits through their first workout on Friday afternoon, March 9. True to tradition, there was a large number of candidates out for the squad, and among them were Bill Baird, Harry Liggett, Red Cook, Happy Weir, Bob Adams, and Ben Brooks, of last year's team. Cumberland always pulls through with a good baseball team, and from all indications this year is to be no exception. So far, with four games chalked up, the Bulldogs have had an even break by healing their Michigan State wounds with a double-header victory over Tennessee Tech and by losing the fourth to Vanderbilt University.

The opening game, with Michigan State College, was played on Kirk Field on Saturday, March 24. Dick Smith opened in the box, with Johnny Leake doing the receiving. Smith was relieved in the fifth by Bloodsworth. Liggett and Brooks held their old positions at first and third, respectively. Bob Taylor played the short field, and DuBois held the second sack. Adams and Baird, of last year, were aided by Humphries in the outfield duties. A few miscues on the part of the infield, coupled with strong hitting, gave the Michigan boys the best of the day by a score of 5-3.

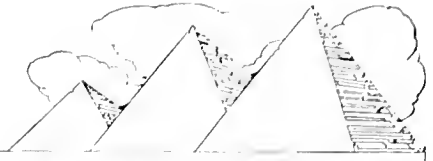

Tennessee Tech furnished fine meat for the revengeful Bulldogs on their trip here on April 7. The local team took two fast games by the scores of 3-2 and 3-1. In the first fray Lefty Weir pitched himself into fame by delivering a no-hit game which ran into eleven innings. Taylor occupied the mound in the second game, and pitched beautiful ball to win another for C. U.

Vanderbilt came over to Lebanon for the fourth game on Saturday, April 14, and walked off with a decided victory. The day was damp and cold, and resulted in a series of errors which gave Weir too much of an uphill battle, though he pitched good ball through most of the game. The Vanderbilt willow, along with costly C. U. errors, piled up a total of nine runs to white-wash the Bulldogs.

After the Men's Dormitory burned in 1924, a group of the students organized as the Yellow Dog Club. They felt the need of more social life, which they believed that such an organization would afford them. Their first meeting place was the Partee home on West Main Street, but later they moved to a home of their own on West Main Street. In October, 1925, the club was incorporated under the name of the Iota Sigma Tau Fraternity. At the same time they obtained the home in which they are now located, across the street from Caruthers Hall.

SIGMA DELTA KAPPA

Sigma Delta Kappa is a national organization of lawyers and law students of recognized law school drawn together by the belief that character is the true test of manhood, that scholarship is the first duty of a student, and that participation in all worth-while forms of social and professional activity are to be encouraged as developing us as well-rounded members of our chosen profession.

The Fraternity was founded at the University of Michigan in 1914, and since that time has staged a very creditable and rapid growth. At present Sigma Delta Kappa has a total of thirty-two Chapters that are located at the law schools of good standing throughout America.

Pi Chapter of Sigma Delta Kappa was installed in November, 1924, and since that time has maintained a creditable standing, scholastically and socially, at Cumberland University.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB

The International Relations Club was organized at Cumberland in the fall of 1926. It is under the auspices and support of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, and is one of many such clubs among the universities and colleges of the United States. Professor Will D. Young, of the Department of History, is the faculty advisor.

The bi-weekly meetings of the club are devoted to discussions of events of national and international importance, the chief object being the preparation of the members for a more intelligent citizenship in America and in the world. A high scholastic standing and a year's resident study in Cumberland are prerequisites to consideration for membership.
